

About Hampden-Sydney College

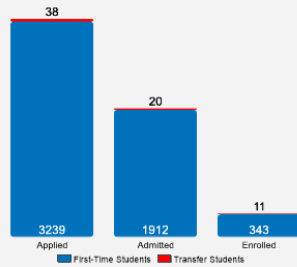

The Mission of Hampden-Sydney College is "to form good men and good citizens." At H-SC, our men learn to think, reason, and communicate: they learn the importance of honor. The liberal arts education, combined with the opportunity for internships at places such as The White House and the European Parliament contribute to our students' understanding of the world. Employers want what they recognize in our graduates--educated men and honest men.

About Campus Life

What it's Like on Our Campus

Our campus encompasses 1,343 acres. It provides our men opportunities for intense physical activity and places for quiet pursuits. Nationally-ranked Division III intercollegiate teams, a strong intramural program, and activities such as fishing, hiking camping, and hunting nearby balance the rigorous classroom experience.

Campus Safety

The Hampden-Sydney Police department consists of nine full time officers, who provide twenty-four hour coverage, seven days per week. Officers in vehicles, on bicycles, or on foot, patrol the campus, adjacent public property, and other college-owned property. All officers have been trained in emergency medical procedures.
